EXPLANATORY REMARKS

The system already used in Serial Publications of the Soviet Union, 1939–1957, is also applied in this compilation. Library of Congress forms of entry are observed as closely as possible. However, in cases where the compiler has had at his disposal more recent data than that available when an item was cataloged, appropriate changes have been made in the entry. Serials, without a distinctive title, published by a society, institution, or government agency, are grouped under the name of the organization responsible for their publication. Serials having a distinctive title are entered under title. Certain reservations should be maintained in regard to corporate entries for serials not located in this country. In such cases the corporate entry has been established from the title of the serial as listed in Soviet sources, whose cataloging rules differ materially from those of the United States. Cross-references, which are included for almost all titles under corporate entry as cited by Soviet sources, should enable the reader to locate the entry as set up according to American library practice.

The transliteration system used by the Library of Congress has been employed, except in the case of the Ukrainian letter "r." As in Library of Congress practice, generally this letter is transliterated "h." If, however, a word has a Greek or Latin root or simply, the same root as the English word, the initial letter is that of the original root, e.g., the words гідрологія and геологія are transliterated hidrologiia and geologiia, not hidrolohiia and heolohiia. In corporate entries, city names appear in the form used in the catalogs of the Library, but in the imprint following the title, the name of the city as authorized by the Board on Geographic Names is used, e.g., Tiflis and Tbilisi, Tashkend and Tashkent, etc.

It should be noted that all entries are set up according to the Rules for Descriptive Cataloging in the Library of Congress, not according to the new Anglo-American Cataloging Rules of 1967. The reason for this is twofold: First, most of the Soviet serials in the Library of Congress have already been cataloged according to the old rules, and second, a large part of this compilation had been completed before the introduction of the new rules. It is hoped that the numerous cross-references should enable the reader to avoid any difficulties in this regard.

For the sake of clarity, all titles of serial publications are capitalized, and corporate headings are given in lowercase type. If two or more periodicals have the same title, the name of the city in which each is issued follows the title. In such cases the name of the city is in lowercase and is underlined.

If a corporate body has issued two or more serial titles, its name is given the first time only. In the case of a second or third title, the name of the corporate body is represented by three dashes, followed by the title of the serial, e.g., Ezhegodnik, Izvestiia, and Vestnik of Akademiia nauk SSSR would be as follows:

Akademiia nauk SSSR
———EZHEGODNIK
———IZVESTIIA
———VESTNIK

The title is followed by the place of publication, the year that the serial began publication (if known), the name of the issuing body (for title entries), the frequency of publication, and miscellaneous remarks regarding changes in title, suspension of publication for certain periods, etc. The compiler has not attempted to indicate the various changes in the publishers of a serial; only the latest known issuing body is specified.

A hyphen (-) between numbers or dates indicates an inclusive range. A plus sign (+) after the date when the serial began to appear indicates that it is still being published, or that the compiler has no data available if and when it ceased publication. If publication has ceased and the date is known, this date is indicated together with the first year of publication. Changes in title are given whenever they are known, and cross references are made from former titles to the title under which the serial is listed.

Data regarding the serial entry are followed by symbols of libraries throughout the United States and Canada in which the entry is known to be represented. A list of the symbols of such libraries, indicating their full name and location, is to be found after these remarks.

Library of Congress holdings are listed in full at the end of the entry, following the symbol DLC. For the sake of simplification, the abbreviation "v." (volume) is used in place of the Russian words god, tom or vypusk. The abbreviation "w" (wanting) indicates that the Library of Congress lacks certain issues in a run of numbers specified; e.g., "v.6-13. 1930-37 (w: 1932 no.3-4; 1936 no.8-10)" indicates that, although the Library has volumes (god) 6 through 13 for the years 1930 through 1937, it lacks numbers 3 and 4 for 1932, and numbers 8, 9 and 10 for 1936. The words "micr." (microfilm) or "photocopy" following certain issues indicate that the Library has such issues only in microfilm or photostat form. The use of brackets around the volume number or title indicates that the number or title does not appear on the publication itself but is merely assumed. The symbol 1968 "no.1+" at the end of Library of Congress holdings indicates that the Library in 1968 is regularly receiving all issues of that periodical.

Library of Congress holdings are followed by the Library's call number for the entry. The abbreviation "Unclass." (unclassified) in place of the call number means that the publication has not yet been fully cataloged by the Library, and that such unclassified material is available in the Library's Slavic Room. The expressions "Law" and "Div. for Blind" in place of the call number indicate that the material is located in the Law Library or in the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

Some monographic series are not treated as collected sets by the Library of Congress, but each issue is cataloged separately and receives a separate call number. Such series are indicated by the expression "Classified as monogr." in place of the call number. In such cases the call number of each issue is to be found in the Series Catalog of the Library's Card Division or, to a limited extent, in the Library's Main Catalog.

For the convenience of users, serials not known to be in any library in the United States or Canada are indicated by an asterisk after the number of the entry.
